

Timothy B. Sittema

Crosland Southeast Managing Partner

Mr. Sittema is Co-Founder and Managing Partner of Crosland Southeast. In that capacity, he shares responsibility for the strategic growth and capital markets needs of the Company, he provides oversight of the Company's various development business lines (single-tenant, shopping center, market-rate multifamily and mixed/multi-use) and leads the affordable housing development efforts. Tim is also very involved in philanthropic work and has a passion for using his real estate platform to improve the fabric of our communities while helping to expand opportunities for the less fortunate. When Tim is not at work, he is likely spending time with his wife of 40 years, or one of his 4 children or 6 grandchildren.

Mr. Sittema is currently a Director and Board Chair of Freedom Communities, a non-profit he co-founded in Charlotte to accelerate upward mobility for residents in west Charlotte. He also serves on the Boards of Project 658, a ministry primarily serving the refugee community, and the Central Piedmont Community College Foundation. Mr. Sittema has graduate degrees from Purdue University and the University of Colorado.
